

Submission Checklist

- The submitted manuscript must be written in English.
- An original manuscript would generally consist of 5,000-8,000 words (excluding figures, tables, and references), although a high-quality article exceeding 8,000 words may be considered. The Short or Long article must contain an Abstract of 250-350 words with 5-6 Keywords.

Word Limit for Submissions:

Long Articles: An article must comprehensively analyze the issue that the author seeks to highlight. It must contain a rigorous study of the contemporary issue in any area of Law. A long article should be between 5,000-8,000 words.

Short Articles: An essay challenges existing paradigms/norms and provides a fresh outlook to common problems. It is strongly recommended that essays be considerably more concise than articles, in terms of scope and conceptualization. A short article must thus ideally be between 2,000-5,000 words.

Case Comments: A case comment allows the author to critique any recent/landmark judicial pronouncement, legislation, or a pending bill. The word limit for a case comment is 1,500-2,500 words.

Book Reviews: The book review must be written in a concise manner. The word limit for book review is 1000-2,000 words.

- The submitted manuscript should not have been previously published or be currently under consideration for publication elsewhere.
- The author may only submit a conference article if the article has been completely re-written and the author has cleared any necessary permissions with the copyright owner if it has been previously copyrighted.
- Briefs and research notes are not published in this journal.
- All our articles go through a double-blind review process.
- All authors must declare they have read and agreed to the content of the submitted article. Refer to 'Publication Ethics'.
